

Patti Wood

Patti Wood is the founder and executive director of Grassroots Environmental Education, a 501 (c) (3) not-for-profit award-winning organization dedicated to educating the public about the relationship between environmental exposures and human health risks.

A Visiting Scholar at Adelphi University and author, Ms. Wood lectures on the environment and related health issues in the School of Nursing.

She works with the Environmental Health Division of the New York State Department of Health producing public information materials on a variety of health issues and serves on the NY Governor's Advisory Council for Sustainability and Green Procurement.