

Aromatic aster (Symphyotrichum oblongifolius 'Raydon's favorite'): This aster only grows 1-3 feet tall, has purple flowers and provides nectar and pollen in the fall to a variety of pollinators. It gets its name from fragrant leaves. It is also a larval host for moth species. Blooms August through September.

