

Spotted Beebalm (Monarda punctata): Spotted bee-balm stands out with its unique flowers, with tiers of tan, dark-spotted petals surrounded by green and pink bracts. This species supports a variety of native bees and butterflies, and thrives in dry, rocky soils where it will self-sew readily. Blooms July to September.

