

Anise hyssop (Agastache 'blue fortune'): This upright, clump forming plant is in the mint family. Its foliage is anise scented and it has lavender clusters of flowers in a vertical column. It is a good nectar plant and will be utilized by bees, hummingbirds and many butterfly species. Its pollen is also used by many types of bees. Blooms June through September.

