

Flowering Dogwood (Cornus florida): This small tree is considered to be one of the most beautiful eastern North American trees. It has showy blooms, red fruit and red foliage in the fall. It provides fruit for birds and its flowers attract butterflies and native bees. It is also a larval host to the spring azure butterfly. Blooms April to May.

